by deleting the following language:

That hunting, fishing and trapping, and the harvesting of wild birds, fish and game, shall be a right preserved to the citizens of this state, subject only to reasonable restrictions prescribed by law.

and by substituting the following:

The citizens of this state have a right to hunt, including with dogs, fish, and harvest game and fish subject to regulations and restrictions as authorized in accordance with Article XI, Section 13 of this constitution and pursuant to the state's obligation under its common law trust. Such regulations and restrictions shall carry with them the presumption of validity and courts reviewing such regulations and restrictions shall utilize a rational review basis standard, as such standard has been defined by the courts through case law. Nothing in the section shall alter the burden of proof requirements otherwise established by law for any challenge to a regulation or restriction relating to hunting, including with dogs, fishing, or the harvesting of game and fish. This section shall not be construed to abrogate any private property rights or the State's sovereignty over game and fish.
